III. 2012 Annual General Education Assessment Report; Faculty Assignments; Rubric; Assessment Data; Prompt for Students; CSWS Survey Results; Writers Corner Data: read the draft and provide feedback: the entire committee

The committee continued to look at the 2012 Annual General Education Assessment Report and provided feedback as needed.

The committee still needs to include language into the General Education Assessment Report that indicates that we are going to work on potential revisions to the GE (large or small).

IV. Briefing on the Association of General and Liberal Studies conference: Tatiana Nazarenko

Tatiana learned that it is not necessary to spend 5-10 years to revise the GE if revisions are needed — other colleges she spoke with were making changes, big and small, within a 1-2 year timeframe.

Maybe in any GE revisions we should be looking at a smaller number of things to do and putting more resources into those areas.

Tatiana brought back ideas for how to implement potential changes

There may be a moment with Mark’s arrival to reconsider the GE and how unwieldy it has become.

Respectfully submitted,
