TravelInsurety.com is owned and operated by M. Kent Corrick who is licensed in all 50 states. All Insurance carriers represented on this site are rated “A” or higher.

I like traveling, I like working with people, I like insurance, I like internet marketing, and I love helping people to understand how to make insurance plans work for them. TravelInsurety.com brings all of that together.

I hope that you enjoy this web site. My colleagues and I have tried to create a travel insurance web site that will provide a friendly and fun experience. While ours is a plan comparison site, it is not about showcasing our technology, but rather using the technology to showcase our products. We want our users to easily access all aspects of the plans, the details, and the prices so that they can make decisions with confidence that ‘their’ needs are being met.

Thank you.
