NIKO

"I will always remember my roots."

My dad suffered a stroke when I was in high school. I wanted to act as if everything was okay. I rejected the idea of a higher power. I was in a real identity and faith crisis. I attended Servite High, a Catholic school. I went to the chapel, picked up a Bible and landed on Mark 11:24: "Therefore I tell you, whatever you ask for in prayer, believe that you have received it, and it will be yours." I prayed for my dad and said, "God, if you heal my dad, I promise I will give my life to you." My mom called me with tears and told me that the doctor said "There's no scientific or medical explanation why your husband is alive from this stroke." I gave my life to Christ that day!

I was accepted to all the elite colleges and universities I applied to and Westmont was the one that took my faith and learning to a whole new level! My faith now runs deep and I know the future God has planned for me.

REBECA

“I carry eagerness to do it all!”

I’ve always wanted to be everywhere and do everything. I’ve learned that there’s so much to do but so little time available. I was born with big dreams in my heart — I love to give where I can and seek out great serving opportunities, including travel and getting involved in community, clubs, and church ministries.

At Westmont with so many options to get involved, I’ve learned to make meaningful and thoughtful decisions. I’m putting my focus on one experience at a time, not overdoing it! I can’t do it all, but I can enjoy the moments that matter most and give joy, one experience at a time.

RYLAN

"I was born to serve."

I'm not a loner — I thrive in community.

Growing up, my family moved around a lot. It wasn't always easy to make friends or feel settled, but through that experience, I discovered something important: community doesn't just happen — it's something you build. And it starts with me.

Whether I'm walking the halls of my dorm, standing in line at the grocery store, or welcoming guests in the Admissions Office, I see every moment as a chance to connect and serve. Taking a few extra seconds to ask someone how their day is going, or showing up when no one expects it, can make all the difference.

That's what drives me — creating a space where others feel seen and valued. As a transfer student, I bring that mindset with me into the classroom, to the dinner table at the Dining Commons, and ultimately into my career. Because the kind of community I love to live in is one I'm committed to creating — wherever I go.

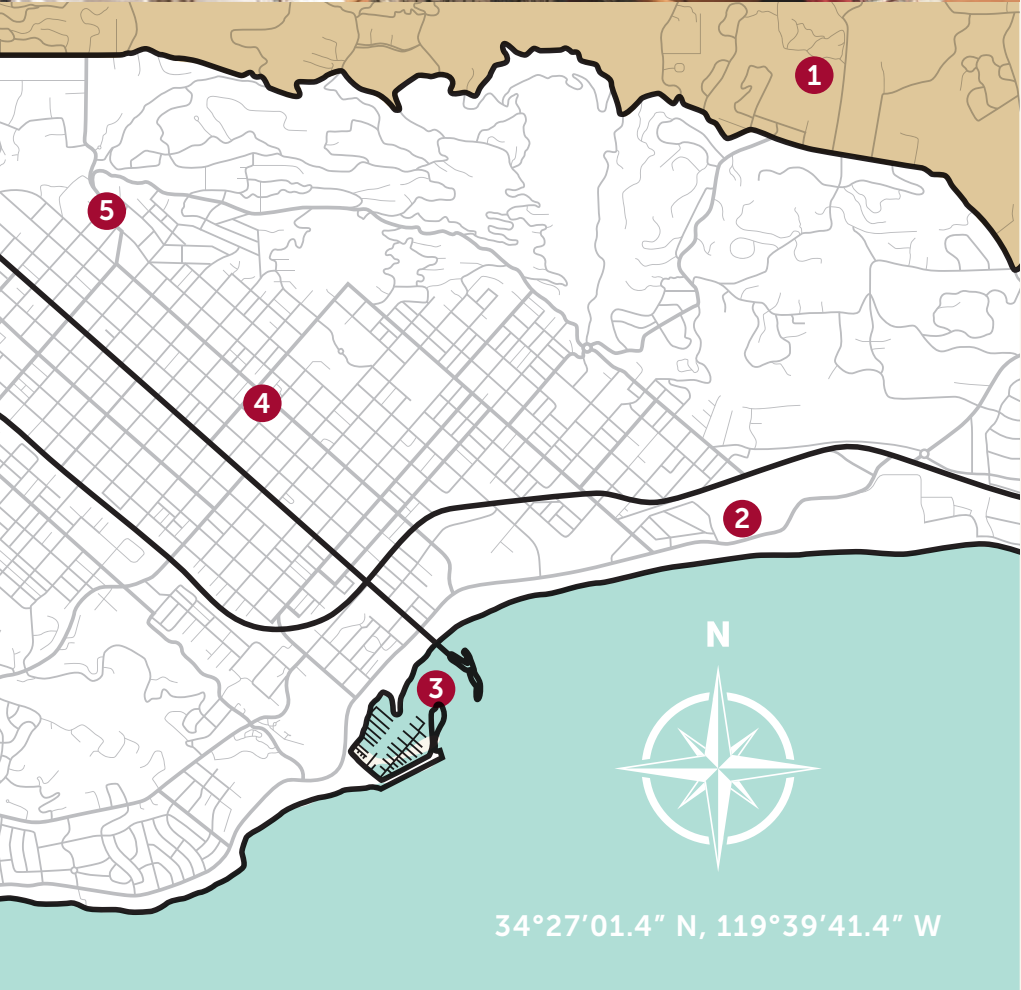

DACIA

"I see beauty where others see brokenness."

I was made a believer. I wasn't born as one, but by God's grace, I've found deeper purpose in places where pain was evident. I'm a true believer that when the path is unclear and there is no map to follow, God is more evident in leading the way. I'm learning that life rarely gives you easy answers — but faith always provides a clear path. In moments of uncertainty, I've found strength in worship. Worship became my sanctuary, my secret place.

I'm now a part of chapel's worship team. Singing isn't just something I pursue for fun. Through song I am reminded of whose I am. There's true joy in my voice when I sing. I've seen the kind of miracles that open doors and transform lives. I am not at Westmont by accident. I am here with a deeper purpose.
