Westmont Department of Music

Nathanael Nims is a Business & Economics and Piano performance double major originally from Ventura, CA. After spending four years traveling the United States with his family and learning to play the piano independently, he began studying at the Colorado Springs Conservatory, where he discovered a love for Beethoven and Chopin. This classical instruction led the way to winning Westmont's Music Guild Competition in 2019, which allowed him the privilege of studying with Dr. Steve Hodson and the wonderful music faculty here at Westmont. Nathanael is delighted to thankfully welcome his family from across the country as well as those in the local community to share in the love of beautiful music!
